

COMPLIANCE DATA MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS AND METHODS

ABSTRACT

5 A method and system is disclosed for managing compliance data over a networked system of computers. Compliance data is gathered, a portion of which is supplemented, and formatted to create modified compliance data. The modified compliance data is stored within a database based on a compliance classification scheme. The stored compliance data then is transferred to a data server where it is provided to remote communication devices connected via a 10 communications network.